Who is Windavar?

More competitive than ever, today's market calls for ambitious entities in business, to amaze their clients by surpassing their expectations.

Windavar is a brand of Intellicom Ltd., which under the management of this company has been created in order to achieve growth and diversify, under very challenging market conditions. Having put this approach into practice, we are now ready to share our expertise in a number of fields with our commercial partners.

Today, Windavar remains a forward thinking and innovative brand, committed to providing viable and effective solutions for their clients and partners, moving them ahead of the competition. As a dynamic network, we specialize in providing sustainable solutions and services in a variety of market sectors such as: Converting in Food Packaging, Tobacco Packaging, Health Care, Catering, Electronics, Construction, Automotive, Home Appliances, Heating and Cooling systems, Milling, Beverage Cans and Transportation. Our offered products comply with high standards and contribute to efficiency for each industry. From its start, Windavar has worked towards providing all the related services their clients need. With a team supported by a highly efficient administration and experienced management, our youthful energy and total commitment to quality makes Windavar a compatible choice for you.

A Long History, In Short

Established in 2001, our aim has been to cross over the gaps that you might have felt in today's high-tech world. We began with making our product portfolio based on a surge in demand for quality aluminum foil products for the flexible food packaging industry. And over the years, along with our hard working team, we have continued to expand our supplier and customer base in different European and Middle-Eastern markets. In the starting steps, we progressed through developing new region specific sales & marketing plans, implementing a new strategic approach to the aluminum market. Taking into account future trends and drawing on in depth sales analysis, we are creating new partnerships for the development of the aluminum market on a long-term and profitable basis. We empowered and enriched our aluminum operation by building solid partnerships with quality aluminum suppliers from China and South Korea. Through this achievement we improved the offered range and quality of our products for our clients.

We aimed to further expand our reach in European markets in all aspects, reach new emerging and potential markets and to offer new value-added services to our new partners, which includes more affordable solutions in compliance with international standards and to focus more on trade facilitation among our partners. Within a couple of years, we developed the right supplier-distributor business model for an integrated partnership, reduced the process bottlenecks and time-distance gap between the partners and new emerging market as customers were becoming more cost-conscious. We significantly expanded sales in other markets such as the European regions, Pakistan, UAE, Saudi Arabia, Bahrain, Russia, Brazil and some parts of Africa. As much as our sales markets were expanded we felt a need to improve customer care, so we implemented comprehensive CRM systems for this purpose.

Along with all above, through these years we boosted our products' basket in order to provide total solution in food packaging industry as well as strength ourselves in pharmaceutical, insulation, capacitor and auto industries.

How can we help each other?

In our challenging market, where the rate of growth of competition is increasing, a reliable and supportive partner is the best grant for both parties of the business. That's why we work collaboratively with our partners and consistently to take our service beyond their expectations.

As a trading company we experienced several years in supplying various industries as well as providing services. We believe that value and trust are the components of a quality relationship and they are earned through a mutual engagement. Windavar offers you a range of trusted products in an ever expanding range.

How we cover you:

We always listen: We believe that great ideas come from our clients, which will help us look beyond the available solutions and be different. That is why our sales team are always curious to listen to your special requirements and concerns.

We give you what you need: We combine any of our products and services to create a package that specifically exceeds your expectations.

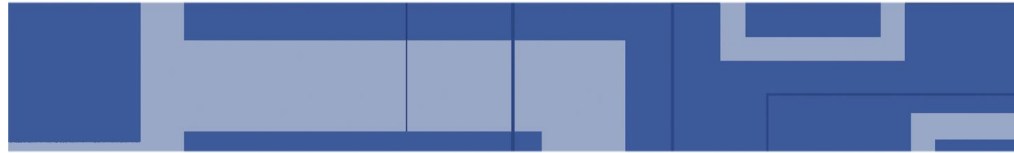

We keep it simple: We never stop evolving to create simple but effective solutions and we are always looking for ways to remove the complexity in procedures and unnecessary costs for getting you where you want to be.

We back you up: We always try to offer the full spectrum of services. Everything from creating standards of excellence, training your people, assessing your needs, increasing your productivity through recommending honest solutions, helping you perform even better in future. We believe that this level of support is not given by the suppliers.

We are committed: We never stop meeting our commitments so that the length of our service agreements are a testimony to the positive effect of our activities on our clients' business.

We remain your partner: We will support you in managing your business relationships to achieve your optimum quality, value and result. Our intention is to be a global cultural and technical bridge between businesses, enabling you and us to reach long-term success together.

Worldwide Business

A few years after establishing the company, our confidence on specializing in services made the idea of making our business more widely than before sparked in our minds. Now we have been facilitating international business for several years in different regions of the worlds such as Europe, Latin America, Africa, Middle East, South Asia, Central Asia and North America.

This idea made our regional sales people as the consultants who are able to visit the clients in the regions to develop opportunities and offer support to them. This drives us to use our experience within a wide range of sectors as well as the regions to assist businesses seeking growth.

Through this method we learn your product’s potential in the market, together with that market’s business practices. Our regional sales people often carry out market research on behalf of the supplier before entering a particular market

Professional Strengths

Our expertise in the local market, as well as our in-depth understanding of the international financial and business environment has given us the core competence to become reputable advisors.

The diverse background of our team enables us to blend a broad range of knowledge across several industry sectors, with the ability to structure and execute complex cross border and domestic transactions for financial and strategic investors. You are provided with the best solutions quality-wise and technically by our sales team, through years of experience and information.

Our sales structure has been planned based on regional systems and our services can be rendered in customers' local time, yet production and logistics are looked after in the suppliers' time zones. Knowing products and technical details professionally, we can function as a consultant to you in order to save your time and money when dealing with us.
